Contents

Comparing Different Optimality — Theoretic Learning Algorithms:
The Case of Metrical Phonology / 1
Diana Apoussidou and Paul Boersma

Meaning to Learn: Bootstrapping Semantics to Infer Syntax / 8
Tom Armstrong and Tim Oates

The Significance of Errors to Parametric Models of Language Acquisition / 15
Paula Buttery and Ted Briscoe

Grammatical Inference and the Argument from the Poverty of the Stimulus / 21
Alexander Clark

A Cross Disciplinary Look at Statistics and Grounding in Human Lexical Learning / 28
Harlan D. Harris and James S. Magnuson

Corpus-Based Induction of Syntactic Structure: Models of Constituency and Dependency / 32
Dan Klein and Christopher D. Manning

Learning Semantic Parsers: An Important but Under-Studied Problem / 39
Raymond J. Mooney

When Push Comes to Shove: A Study of the Relation between Interaction Dynamics and Verb Use / 45
Clayton T. Morrison, Erin N. Cannon, and Paul R. Cohen

Inducing Contrainst-Based Grammars from a Small Semantic Treebank / 49
Smaranda Muresan, Tudor Muresan, and Judith L. Klavans

On Grounding the Content of Language / 57
Deb Roy

Unsupervised Context Sensitive Language Acquisition from Large, Untagged Corpora / 61
Zach Solan, Eytan Ruppin, David Horn, and Shimon Edelman

Semi-Supervised Semantic Role Labeling / 65
Cynthia A. Thompson

Does English Need its Pronouns? Simulating the Effect of Pro-drop on SVO Languages / 69
Ezra Van Everbroeck, Maria Polinsky, and Garrison W. Cottrell